Editorial Review

From School Library Journal

Gr 1–3—When he finds out that Room 26 will march in a parade at the school fair, Humphrey the hamster is so excited, especially when he learns that the children will be featuring him and Og the Frog on their class signs. But when Mrs. Brisbane decides it's too dangerous to allow pets to march, Aldo the janitor comes up with a creative solution. These early chapter book companions to Birney's middle-grade Humphrey stories feature a nicely developed voice and facts about pet care inserted organically into the narrative. These books stand alone well, but animal lovers won't want to miss Humphrey's other adventures.

Review

"Birney has created the kind of series that first- and second-grade readers will love. It's set in school, the vocabulary is accessible, the font and spacing are generous, and the frequent illustrations tie the story together. New readers will be 'HAPPY-HAPPY-HAPPY' to see this promising new series." -"Kirkus Reviews" on "Humphrey's Really Wheely Racing Day"

"This title has the same characters, humorous action, and gentle tone of the original, but the large print, short chapters, and numerous cartoon-style illustrations make this one suitable for readers new to chapter books."

"School Library Journal" on "Humphrey's Really Wheely Racing Day"
