Up in Flames: The Art of Flame Painting By Tim Phelps, Sam Radoff

Flame painting first lit up the hot rod world more than 50 years ago—and it's still burning strong. At the heart of the art are a handful of innovators who have pushed the tradition to ever-greater heights over the past half-century—and these are the artists profiled in this book. Up in Flames introduces readers to the flame painters who best represent the talent and inspiration that give this particular art form its power, and whose stories best illustrate the evolution of the flame job. Each profile features full-color illustrations and photographs, examples of an artist's range, and the painter's own thoughts on style, career, and craft—all framed by an introduction that traces the flame job from its infancy to today's modern techniques and designs. Also included is a unique and comprehensive - over 5 pages - timeline of the history of flames and painting.

The profiled flame artists are:

Editorial Review

Review

Drive!,
December 2006

“Phelps’ book … is the best book on the history of the aspect of rods and customs.”

Rod & Custom, January 2007

“We shouldn’t be telling you about this – not if we ever hope to publish another story about the history of flame painting – but Motorbooks recently released a great book by Tim Phelps, “Yosemite” Sam Radoff, and photographer Paul Westbrook that covers the story of flaming and ‘striping from its earliest days right until today.’ Grab a copy … for everyone on your Christmas list and one copy for yourself.”

CruZin’ Magazine,
November/December 2006

“The 18 men profiled in this new book, Up in Flames, put the hot in hot rodding … As I read, my sweat drops on the page.”

AutoArt Magazine, November/December 2006

“Each of the 18 profiles features full-color, on-location photography that highlights some of the artists’ greatest works … framed by an introduction that traces custom flame painting from its infancy to today’s modern techniques and designs.”
